Dear Valued Customers, Gardening Friends and Iris Family,

Welcome to the doorway of Iris Season 2025/26. It only seems like last week that I was sitting and writing up the foreword for last years catalogue. Time is flying by.....

It has been a remarkable year. A year of hardship, a year of learning more about ourselves and evolving within ourselves and the business, also a year of very limited rainfall, the weeds still grow though (go figure)!

Bailey finished university and graduated in May with a double degree in Chemical Engineering with Honours and in Chemistry. Our family are so extremely proud of him and his achievements. He worked hard for his results. The day after graduation we flew to USA and enjoyed their iris season. Lucky for me he will be hanging around for a while longer!

The field was not replanted at the end of last season due to lack of rainfall. Water is a huge cost for the business to irrigate the field and gardens. We made the call to not re-plant to conserve the very little moisture in the ground for the plants to not be put under extreme stress from re-plant, considering how dry it was. The field will be re-planted at the end of the season.

Bailey and myself did however transplant our re-select seedlings which were in dire need of new ground to spread their roots. 15 rows of seedlings under evaluation for intro, seedlings that we look at again to ensure they meet our expectations, seedlings that we use for breeding only, seedlings that we question why did we save??

Bailey works tirelessly on the catalogue. We have had a slight increase in rhizome price which reflects water, fertilizer and other business costs which have also increased. We like to be transparent with our pricing and value your support immensely. Each year we continue to import rhizome from USA. Rhizome that we believe genetically will perform best in our Aussie soils and climate. We look forward to sharing our purchases in the coming years as the rhizome take time to acclimatize and grow to the required amount for release into our Catalogue.

Last season we were alerted to WA customers having to pay a further $70 for inspection fee's on the Rhizome that were shipped from Smokin Heights. Upon further investigation the WA government is inspecting our ICA 29 accredited packages. It is out of our control what the government charge and the fee is not covered under the ICA 29 certificate nor by Smokin Heights. WA customers please be aware that there is a further charge that may be implemented at the border of WA.

This seasons catalogue is boasting 560 Tall Bearded Varieties alone. We are sure that there will be something available to suit everyone's gardening taste. We invite you to fill your garden with love from our heart and soul. The Flower Of The Goddess creates beauty wherever she goes and we look forward to accommodating your iris needs this season.

Warm hugs and loads of love,

Mel and Bailey XX

New Tall Bearded Introductions 2025-2026

BUTTER CARAMEL PECAN PIE (Bailey Schiller 25 Aust) M-L 32" Variegated Foliage This one's practically edible! Picture a warm, decadent dessert: the standards are a velvety creamy tan, melting into a rich light caramel. The style arms shimmer like a drizzle of light gold syrup. These falls are like a perfectly baked pie! Deep, dark caramel veining runs through each golden petal, edged with a soft, caramelised golden border, as if dusted with sugar. Add in the variegated stems, like swirls of cream and green, supporting two branches filled with seven buds ready to bloom into a stunning, mouthwatering show. (Variegated Wonder X Ghost Writer) Sdlg no. F111-ZZ $65.00

COMIC RELIEF (Melissa Schiller 25 Aust) E-M-L 30" A bloom with a punchline, 'Comic Relief' struts into the garden like it owns the stage - bold, bright, and utterly unapologetic. The standards are crisp white with a cheeky yellow overlay and edge, echoed by matching style arms. The falls deliver the full act: white overlaid yellow at the top, bold yellow hafts, and dramatic garnet red shoulders that melt into a rose-purple rim, fading to smoky yellow with a garnet-red hairline rim. Brassy yellow beards bring the curtain call, with a subtle sweet fragrance as the encore. (Johnson TK157A:(TG374D, That's Entertainment sib, x TG21B:(Blueberry Parfait x Watercolor Print)) X Spring Celebration) Sdlg no. H23-1 $65.00

DARK ALIBI (Melissa Schiller 25 Aust) E-M 32" Mysterious and dramatic, 'Dark Alibi' looks like it's hiding secrets in plain sight. The standards are a minimal yellow ochre ground, heavily stitched with deep red-brown thread, like a faded clue in an old detective novel. Style arms echo the red-brown, adding depth and intrigue. The falls unfold in a hush of white, blending into the same ochre ground, embroidered with dark red-brown veining that hints at something deeper beneath the surface. Beards flicker with golden orange and finished in a burnished bronze, a final clue in this blooming mystery. (Ruby Tracery X Flash Mob) Sdlg no. F80-BB $75.00

DREAMING OF CHOCOLATE (Barry Blyth 25 Aust) M-L RE 30" Pure indulgence in bloom! The standards are a creamy greyed chartrreuse lavishly overlaid and stitched with smooth milk chocolate brown, like a swirl of ganache over pistachio cream. Chocolate brown style arms add extra richness to this confection. The falls offer a tempting contrast: a white ground drenched in soft cocoa-toned greyed purple, stitched deeply with bittersweet dark chocolate. Beards glow like golden caramel, tipped with greyed orange, the perfect garnish. With a pronounced sweet vanilla fragrance and a generous habit of reblooming, 'Dreaming Of Chocolate' serves up dessert twice a season. It's a feast for the eyes, nose, and soul (no fork required!). (Blyth X162-A:(Mendacity x Keppel 09-107B:(Keppel 06-137A:(Keppel 02-75C:(Spice Lord x Keppel 98-204H, High Octane pollen parent) x Adoree) x Class Ring)) X Blyth X138-A, Sassy Talk sib) Sdlg no. A118-1 $65.00

FLY INTO THE SUN (Bailey Schiller 24 Aust) E-M 36 Radiant and full of warmth, this iris opens with luminous white standards softly flushed and edged in bright yellow, like morning light spilling over the horizon. The bright yellow style arms echo the glow, adding harmony to the bloom's sunlit palette. The falls are pure white at the centre, framed by amber yellow hafts and edges that bring a rich golden warmth. Beards blaze with a yellow base and vivid orange tips, adding a spark of energy to the serene glow. Show branching with up to four flowers open at once and twelve buds per stem. (Blyth Y56-A, Blood Magic pod parent X Electric Burst) Sdlg no. F66-ZZ $65.00

EXONERATE (Bailey Schiller 25 Aust) M-L 34 A bloom with nothing to hide, 'Exonerate' makes its case with bold contrast and crisp clarity. The standards are pure white, gently flushed with bright yellow, rising like a clean slate touched by sunlight. Style arms shine in matching bright yellow, underscoring its radiant innocence. The falls are striking: ice-white overlaid with rich maroon, framed by Dresden yellow edges and hafts, and marked by a lemon-yellow centre stripe, a dramatic flourish in a garden courtroom. Beards beam golden yellow, the final verdict in this floral declaration! (Johnson TK152A:(TG213ZZ, Can't Stop Loving You pollen parent, x TH131A:(TD139A:(Rasputin x Blyth O227-A, Edge pollen parent sib) x TF5C, Lost Emotion sib)) X Blyth Y43-A, On The Podium sib) Sdlg no. H42-1 $70.00

HEART LINES (Bailey Schiller 25 Aust) E-M 37 Delicate yet striking, this bloom pairs classic elegance with a bold artistic flair. The standards are pure white, serene and luminous, while the white style arms are finely edged in warm amber yellow, like sunlight tracing delicate outlines. The falls echo the white canvas but come alive with a graceful amber yellow edge and a wash of rose-purple that flows across the center in soft, painterly lines. At the heart, vivid tangerine-red beards ignite a burst of colour, a pulse of emotion in an otherwise tranquil bloom. This iris feels like a handwritten note, personal, expressive, and impossible to forget. (Making A Scene X Star Maker) Sdlg no. H73-1 $70.00

LISTEN TO YOUR HEART (Barry Blyth 25 Aust) E-M 36 Like a whispered secret at sunrise, white standards shimmer with a lilac cast, their creamy yellow midribs glowing softly like morning light through sheer curtains. Lilac style arms rise gently, adding a touch of quiet grace. The falls unfold in a wash of feeling, white brushed with magenta rose, bright yellow glowing around the beards like warmth radiating from the heart. A fine lilac edge encircles the bloom, holding it all in delicate balance. At the center, the beards blaze with golden yellow at the base and end, flaring to vivid tangerine at the throat and tips, a spark of emotion beneath the calm. Subtle, expressive, and full of quiet intensity, this iris doesn't ask for attention, it earns it with every detail. (Y54-3, Billowing Robes sib, X Woman's Love) Sdlg no. A80-A $65.00

MAY BE FATE (Bailey Schiller 25 Aust) M-L 31" Unpredictable, unforgettable, and unlike anything else in the garden, this iris is a twist of fate made visible. With no standards, the bloom opens in a six-fall flat form, each petal laid out like destiny unfolding. The falls are white, softly overlaid with pale purple, as if touched by a gentle question. Copper brown hafts ground the bloom with warmth and depth, while bright yellow beards and lemon styles glow at the centre like a path lit by chance. Born from unlikely parents and shaped into a form rarely seen, this iris isn't just a flower, it's a moment of wonder. Maybe it was chance. Maybe it was design. Or maybe... it was fate. (X150-A, Painted Caravans sib, X Bold Pattern) Sdlg no. F58-ZZ $70.00

QUEEN CONCH (Bailey Schiller 25 Aust) E-M 28"

Like a treasure washed ashore, this six-fall flat form iris echoes the delicate beauty of a sun-bleached seashell. With no standards to interrupt its symmetry, the bloom opens wide and sculptural, revealing every intricate detail. The falls are white, gently overlaid with soft salmon pink and traced with fine buff orange veining, like the inner whorls of a queen conch shell catching the light. White style arms rise gracefully at the heart, cool and pristine against the warmer tones. At the centre, beards glow with an orange base that fades to pure white at the tips, like sunlight glinting off wet sand. It's a bloom with ocean soul and coastal elegance, unexpected, serene, and utterly captivating. (Untamed Glory x Full Disclosure) Sdlg no. H17-C $80.00

SHE TALKS TO ANGELS (Melissa Schiller 25 Aust) E-M-L 36"

Bathed in twilight hues, this iris feels like a moment suspended between earth and sky, as if she's just paused mid-whisper, still speaking to something beyond. The standards glow in soft blue-violet, serene and otherworldly, echoed by deeper blue-violet style arms that shimmer like folded wings. The falls draw you in with velvety dark violet, veined in shadows and edged in a luminous amethyst halo. White hafts flicker at the base like celestial echoes, grounding the mystery. At the heart, the beards blaze with brassy orange at the throat, mellowing to yellow, and finally fading into lavender-blue, like a voice moving from warmth into stillness. There's a hush to this iris, a feeling that something sacred has just been said. She talks to angels, and the garden listens. (Black Y23A, Bright and Shining Star sib X Happy Daydream) Sdlg no. H128-1 $65.00

SPANISH HOLIDAY (Barry Blyth 25 Aust) E-M 35"

Sun-drenched and sultry, this iris radiates the warmth and drama of a long, golden afternoon somewhere south of Granada. The standards are bright and lively, white overlaid with vibrant yellow, like sunlit stucco under a clear sky. Style arms in soft greyed orange add a hint of rustic charm, like sunbaked terracotta. The falls bring the passion: a rich, velvety oxblood red, blending to a slightly lighter oxblood edge. Light greyed orange hafts catch the light like flickers of flamenco skirts mid-spin. Beards in dusty greyed orange smolder quietly at the heart, grounding the bloom with earthy intensity. Every detail evokes heat, rhythm, and color, a bold escape in bloom, like a Spanish holiday you never want to end. (Elope To Madrid sib) Sdlg no. A151-A $75.00

KIND EYES (Melissa Schiller 25 Aust) E-M 14" SDB Soft and unassuming at first glance, this iris holds its secret in the centre, a gaze both vivid and kind. The standards glow in a gentle range from bisque to warm pink, with matching style arms that radiate quiet warmth. Falls are pure white, their edges and shoulders softly flushed in warm pink, like a delicate blush. But it's the beards that draw you in: a soulful pairing of burnt orange at the throat, shifting to violet-blue through the middle and end, eyes full of colour, depth, and gentle curiosity. Compact in stature but full of feeling, this iris doesn't just bloom, it looks back. (Blushing Diamond X Oh Wow) Sdlg no. H105-BB $30.00

RHYTHMICAL (Barry Blyth 25 Aust) M 23" BB Graceful in motion and ever-changing in tone, this iris moves through time with quiet elegance. The standards open in soft grey-pink, fading to cool blue-pink as they mature, like dusk turning to twilight. Buff-pink style arms add warmth to the bloom's gentle rhythm. The falls are a greyer hue, fading to white with a soft pink cast, like a memory blurring at the edges. Beards flash with contrast: burnt orange at the base, flaring into violet tips. Freshly opened, it's cool and poised; a day later, it glows with softness, two moods in one bloom. Nuanced, fluid, and full of grace. (Misty Sunlight X Master At Arms) Sdlg no. A122-A $40.00

SEKHMET (Melissa Schiller 25 Aust) E-M 22" AB (OGB) Fierce and radiant, this bloom blazes with regal fire and desert mystery. The standards glow in light amethyst violet, finely veined in deeper amethyst, with bright yellow midribs cutting through like sunbeams on stone. Golden orange style arms crown the centre like a diadem, while the falls erupt in burnt orange, veined with deeper tones and anchored by a striking black signal, a mark of power and intent. Bronze beards burn low, like embers beneath the surface. This iris channels ancient heat and divine presence. Bold, commanding, and unforgettable, it doesn't just bloom, it reigns! (Sibling to Tutankahn and Cleopatra's Veil) Sdlg no. H172-B $35.00

VELA (Bailey Schiller 25 Aust) E-M 22" BB Like a glimpse of starlight on dark sails, this border bearded iris evokes the quiet majesty of the Vela constellation. The standards shimmer with a white ground finely stitched in greyed purple, edged in vivid magenta rose delicate, like celestial threads tracing the night sky. Magenta rose style arms echo the glow, grounding the bloom in velvety color. The falls are a canvas of white and barium yellow, scattered with deep red-purple dots that gather into a near-solid plicata band. A purple violet blaze flashes at the center like a starburst on dark velvet. Yellow-orange beards burn low and bright, like navigation lights on a cosmic voyage. Elegant and otherworldly, this iris feels drawn from the sky, charted in petals, and named for stars. (Nobleman's Fancy X Boston Cream) Sdlg no. F53-1 $45.00

TIYE (Melissa Schiller 25 Aust) M 23" AB OGB Rich with royal depth and quiet power, this bloom carries the spirit of a queen. Velvet violet-blue standards rise with matching style arms for seamless elegance. The falls are deep violet, blending to violet-blue at the edges, with white streaks flashing like light on silk. A bold black signal grounds the bloom in mystery. At the heart, beards blaze orange-yellow, shifting to blue-tipped orange, a striking, regal contrast. Bold, refined, and storied in every detail, this iris holds court with quiet poise. (Smokin' Hot X Shaman's Magic) Sdlg no. H173-B $30.00

Border Bearded Iris - General Listing

Essentially short TB's. BB's reach up to heights of 27.5". A good Border Bearded Iris should have a sense of proportion to compliment their shorter stature. Blooming at the same time as the Talls, their shorter size makes them ideal for a small garden or courtyard. They make an impact without taking up too much space.

Arilbred / Aril-Med Iris - General Listing

Derived from the Oncocyclus and Regelia Aril species crossed with Bearded Iris. These Iris give an exotic feel without the need for special requirements. They require the same conditions as TB's. Arilbreds tend to have scrappy foliage that dies back over Summer. They bloom along with the Standard Dwarf and Intermediate Bearded Iris. Aril-Median (Aril-Med) Iris are obtained by crossing Arilbreds or Arils with Dwarf or Intermediate varieties. Want to grow something a bit different? Give these a go!

Miniature Tall Bearded Iris - General Listing

MTB's are basically mini tall bearded as the name suggests. They reach heights from 16" to 27.5". The blooms are smaller than that of BB's and IB's and have a more dainty/delicate style to them. The stems are also wiry and thin. They are often called "Table Iris" because they are well suited for use in floral arrangements.

Intermediate Bearded Iris - General Listing

Ranging in height between 16-27.5", these Iris bloom overlapping the Dwarfs and Talls. Generally fast growing and filled with stems, they look gorgeous in a mass planting and fill up an empty space quickly. They make elegant bouquets and cut flower stems. If you don't have the space for Talls, then these are perfect for you!

IRIS TERMINOLOGY

Standards - 3 upper petals

Hafts - the area each side of the beard.
a

Luminata - heart of flower is free of anthocyanin pigment. Usually has lighter edges and a pale wash over the falls.

Bitone - standards and falls are shades of the same colour.

Blend - a blend of two or more colours.

Falls - 3 lower petals.

Style Arms - small, stiff segments above the beards.

Glaciata - bred from luminatas and plicatas but all anthocyanin pigment production is suppressed. Therefore, no markings are visible.

Self - standards and falls are the same colour, beards can be a different colour.

Amoena - white standards, any coloured falls.

Neglecta - a bitone but in shades of blue or purple.

Beards - fuzzy protrusions in the upper centre of each fall.

Plicata - stippled, stitched or dotted pattern on different ground colour.

Bicolour - standards and falls are 2 diferent colours.

Variegata - a bicolour with yellow/gold standards and red/brown/burgundy falls.

Reverse Amoena - white falls, any coloured standards

Flower Form

Form is critical. We favour large, wide, and ruffled blooms with good substance and presence. Avoid forms that are too narrow, or tailored unless you're going for a very specific style.

Colour

Choose colours that inspire you, but keep in mind that colour is often the easiest trait to influence in iris breeding. Characteristics like good stem and form can be harder to achieve, so prioritise those when selecting your parents.

Step 2: Collecting Pollen

Once you've chosen your parent plants, it's time to start the cross. You'll need to begin by harvesting pollen from the parent you've chosen to act as the father (the pollen donor). Locate the stamens beneath the style arms in the centre of the flower. These are the structures holding the pollen. Using tweezers (or even your fingers if you're careful), pluck out the stamens. Look for ones that appear fluffy and are visibly coated with pollen grains, this indicates maturity and viability. Place the stamens in a labelled pill container, using separate compartments for different varieties. Keeping pollen organised is crucial for tracking your crosses accurately.

Step 3: Preparing the Mother Plant

Now it's time to bring the pollen to your chosen mother plant (the one that will produce the seed pod). Before applying the pollen, take a few preparatory steps. Clean the stem by removing any foliage. This helps prevent moisture buildup, which can lead to rot. Remove the standards and falls (the flower petals). This not only reduces contamination risks during pollination, but also lowers the chance of the seed pod rotting at the top.

You're now ready to make your cross!

Step 4: Pollination

To successfully pollinate an iris: Locate the stigmatic lip, this is a receptive ridge located on the underside of each style arm. Carefully apply the pollen you collected to this lip using a stamen and a pair of tweezers. Be sure to apply pollen to all three stigmatic lips for the best chance of pod formation. Once done, label the cross clearly. We use hard plastic labels tied around the stem with string, noting the names or numbers of both parents using the cross naming conventions outlined below.

Harvesting pollen and placing in storage

Pod parent stem with bloom ready to be pollinated

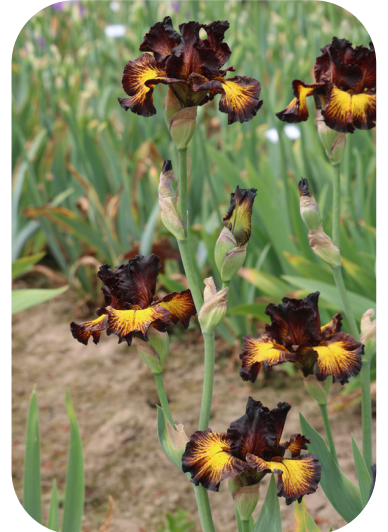

Performing the cross pollination, see the pollen grains on the stigmatic lip

Cross is completed and labeled, fingers crossed it takes!

When labelling an iris cross, the standard convention is to list the mother (or pod parent) first, followed by the father (or pollen parent). The pod parent is the iris that receives the pollen, and the pollen parent is the one from which the pollen is taken. For example, if pollen from Lightsaber is applied to Bahia Cooler, the cross should be written as: Bahia Cooler X Lightsaber. Note the use of a capital "X" between the names, this is only used to separate the two parents in a direct cross. Things can get a bit more complex when one or both parents are seedlings (unregistered varieties). In such cases, the full pedigree may be written out to clarify the lineage. Take the K18 cross as an example. The pod parent is Bailey's seedling I6-1, and the pollen parent is the registered variety Circus Act. So the cross is written as: I6-1 X Circus Act. Because I6-1 is not a registered variety, we often provide the full pedigree for clarity: I6-1:(Flirtin Skirts x Fishnet Stockings) X Circus Act. Notice the use of a lowercase "x" in the pedigree: This indicates that Flirtin Skirts and Fishnet Stockings are the parents of I6-1, but they were not directly used in the new cross. Only their seedling, I6-1, was.

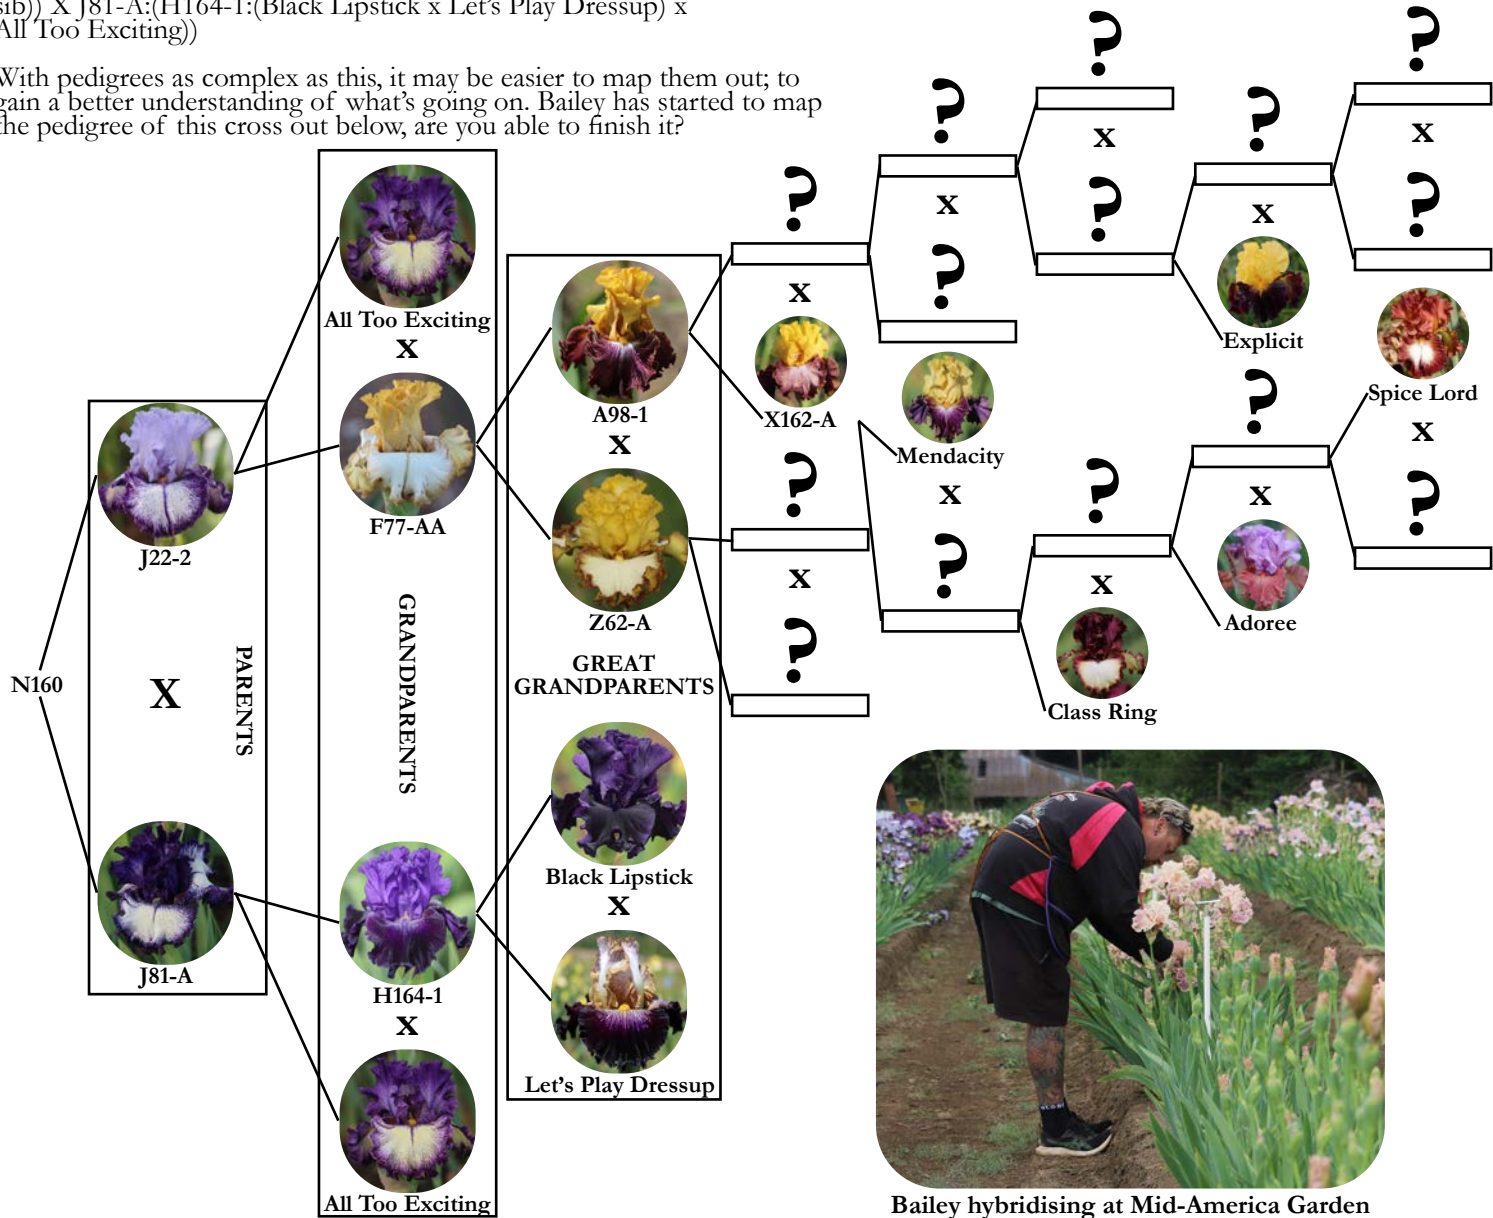

Classic S-Curve branching on 'Tuscan Summer'

Things get even more confusing when seedlings with complicated pedigrees are used are used in crosses but never get registered. This was a cross made last season that is currently germinating in the seedling boxes. N160 which is a cross between Bailey's seedling J22-2 and Mel's seedling J81-A (J22-2 X J81-A). The full pedigree is written out as:

N160-:(J22-2:(All Too Exciting x F77-AA:(A98-1:(Y96-4:(V255-1:(T154-7, French Butterfly pollen parent sib, x S278-A:(O228-4:(I'm Dreaming sib x Platinum Class sib) x Explicit))) x V249-5, Polkadot Tapestry sib)) x X162-A:(Mendacity x 09-107B:(06-137A:(02-75C:(Spice Lord x 98-204H, High Octane pollen parent) x Adoree) x Class Ring)) x Z62-A:(X138-1, Sassy Talk sib x X213-1, Mystify sib)) X J81-A:(H164-1:(Black Lipstick x Let's Play Dressup) x All Too Exciting))

With pedigrees as complex as this, it may be easier to map them out; to gain a better understanding of what's going on. Bailey has started to map the pedigree of this cross out below, are you able to finish it?

Germination & Growing On

Once the seeds are sown, it's time for a bit more patience. Germination usually begins after about six weeks for us (this will change depending on your climate). The first signs of life are tiny green shoots pushing up through the soil, a very exciting moment after months of waiting! As the seedlings emerge, we keep the boxes moist but not waterlogged, and in a spot with good light and airflow. Each seedling represents a unique genetic combination, so every one has the potential to be something special. When the seedlings reach about 10–15 cm in height and have a few leaves, it's time to carefully lift and transplant them into the garden. We do this in Spring, once the weather is reliably warm.

Now, we wait once more, for those first blooms to reveal what surprises nature has in store.....

After the Cross: What Happens Next?

All our spring crosses are now complete, and the waiting game begins! Once we see signs that a cross has taken, we like to place an organza bag over the developing seed pod. This helps catch any seeds in case the pod splits before we notice, it's a simple way to avoid losing any valuable offspring.

You'll know a pod is ready to harvest when it begins to turn brown and starts to split open at the top. This usually takes around two to three months. Once harvested, crack the pod open to reveal shiny, slightly yellow seeds that resemble corn kernels. We keep the seeds in the same organza bag the pod was stored in, ready for the next phase.

Sowing Time

We typically sow our seeds around ANZAC Day (late April), using styrofoam boxes filled with premium potting mix. Each cross is clearly labelled, we use a code that includes a letter for the year and a number for the specific cross. For example, N160 refers to the 160th cross made in 2024 ("N" being our code for that year).

There's no single correct method for labelling, use whatever system works best for you. The important thing is to stay organised and enjoy the process!

Seedlings in their boxes, ready to be planted out into the field!

A Look Behind the Scenes: Our Seedlings and Hybridising Goals

As in previous years, we've dedicated a few pages at the back of our catalogue to share a glimpse into our hybridising work, a behind-the-scenes look at the future of our garden. Here you'll find a selection of our current seedlings, some showing great promise and others simply capturing our curiosity. Each represents a step in our ongoing journey to create irises that are not only beautiful but also strong garden performers. This section is more than just a showcase, it's where we reflect on the traits we're aiming to improve and the directions we're excited to explore. For fellow hybridisers and iris enthusiasts, we hope it also offers some inspiration. Thank you for being a part of the journey!

Off With The Fairies (B Schiller 23)

J15-:(Off With The Fairies X G6-5:(Nine Lives x Zaftig)) Bailey has been working on dwarf bearded iris that are better suited for our warm climate. Off With The Fairies has proven to be an invaluable parent in this endeavor, passing on its wonderful bloom and plant habits onto its offspring. G6-5 was going to be registered and introduced but the rabbits decimated the clump, once it has recovered we will re-evaluate. It is a lovely broken colour that seems to transmit to the offspring, J15-B is broken colour and will not be registered but we will use it in hybridising.

F5-1

K12-1:(F5-1:(Cache Of Gold x Meet Me) X I3-4:(G7-1:(Mordor x Cub Cadet) x Hot Lava)) Sometimes a cross is made with the expectation that nothing of value will come out first generation. This cross was purely made to get the garden performance traits of F5-1 into other colours and patterns. I3-4 was an interesting minimal plicata that was not a good performer for us and bloomed out in its second year of evaluation, this is the type of bloom Bailey really likes! What K12-1 lacks in colour and pattern, it more than makes up for in garden performance. It will be used heavily in hybridising!

K12-1

K18-:(I6-1:(Flirtin Skirts x Fish-net Stockings) X Circus Act) This cross is from Bailey's other approach to improving garden performance in the dwarf bearded iris. Utilising taller iris such as MTB or IB to increase stem height and bud count. In this case I6-1, which is from MTB Flirtin Skirts was used. I6-1 was one of Bailey's favourite seedlings out of the 'I' crop, not only for stem and bud count but for colour and form. Unfortunately, nature's and Bailey's plans for this cross did not coincide. The K18 series had some of the shortest stems out of the 'K' crop of seedlings. This may change over the next few years of evaluating, so all hope is not lost. This cross was not only for taller stems but also for broken colour. K18-2 looks like it might be a broken colour, we should get a better idea when it blooms next. The other siblings in the cross are all luminata-plicatas. Luckily we have many other broken coloured seedlings we can cross these back to. This lot of seedlings may also be good candidates to cross to K12-1, sometimes it's just fun to mix up the gene pool and see what pops out! let the planning begin!

Disruptor (B Schiller 23)
K88-1:(Disruptor X Blyth A117-1:(X162-1:(Mendacity x Keppel 09-107B:(06-137A:(02-75C:(Spice Lord x 98-204H, High Octane pollen parent) x Adoree)) x X161-A:(Keppel 09-86Y, Darktonian pollen parent sib x 09-85D, Mixed Signals sib))) Here are two siblings out of the K88 cross, one is a luminata-plicata and the other is a 'broken coloured plicata.' Of note, these seedlings both had a high bud count and fabulous branching. They'll both be used in hybridising to achieve more 'broken coloured plicata's!' Barry gifted A117-1 to Bailey a number of years ago because he thought it would be something that Bailey would be interested in working with. He was correct! We're glad to see that the broken colour trait is easily transmittable but it seems to be unstable. Given that over the years we had A117-1, it slowly reverted back to plicata, and has now been composted. Hopefully with more work and hybridising it will become a stable trait.

Lunacy (B Schiller 22)

Disruptor (B Schiller 23)

K80-1:(Lunacy X Disruptor) Another 'broken coloured plicata' in different colours and with an interesting rim on the standards. The form seems to be okay, the photo was taken on a windy day and hence the bloom is a little skewed, but we'll get a better idea when it blooms next. It bloomed on a short, little stem but we couldn't help ourselves, we had to save it! Until the plant improves (if it ever does), it will only be used as a pollen parent. We did manage to get some seed from it with K88-1 (shown above), hopefully it gives us what we want!

As so many of you already know, Bailey loves novelties! He's been working on 'broken coloured plicata's' for the past few seasons, his introduction Lunacy is one such 'broken coloured plicata.' However, this terminology is a little misleading as it's not the plicata markings that are breaking, it is actually the ground colour. For example, the picture of Lunacy shown on the left side of this page has a white colour break going from the beard to the edge of the petal but you can clearly see the underlying plicata stitching is unaffected. Thus far it seems to be an easily transmittable trait and we generally get one or two out of a cross for it. Paul Black is another hybridiser working on this pattern, he has registered a few over the last couple of years. We look forward to adding these into our own lines and seeing what will eventuate!

Beginning Of A Fairytale (B Schiller 24)

Revenge (Blyth 24)

Always In Command (M Schiller 20)

Blyth C158-1

K20-2:(Always In Command X Blyth C158-1:(Z110-A, Sunset Lodge sib, x Made Me Shiver)) Bailey has a feeling that a mistake has been made somewhere along the line, this broken coloured plicata was completely unexpected from this cross. If you can't see the broken colour, one of the falls on the lower flower is purple! We will keep an eye on this one to see if it remains stable and we'll also compare it to its siblings to determine if a mixup has occurred. In that case it will be marked as unknown pedigree. Not ideal, when it is a trait your working towards!

K20-2

K71-1:(Beginning Of A Fairytale X Revenge) Exactly what was planned for this cross! A variegated foliage red-amoena with wide and ruffled form. It's amazing how quickly some projects seem to yield results, K71-1 is only two generations out of Striptease! Striptease is a purple self with not the greatest form and a short stem, but it does have really stable variegated foliage that rarely reverts. A trait that Beginning Of A Fairytale has and hopefully it continues to pass it on to its offspring. Revenge is an Iris we selected, registered and introduced for Barry Blyth, it is an extremely early blooming variety which is a trait we were looking to add into our variegated foliage lines. It also has really nice stems and bud count, more incentive to use it in hybridising. K71-1 stood out for its wonderful wide and ruffled form, contrasting colour, and of course, variegated foliage! The stem still needs a little work but is not the worst branching we've seen. Quite often maiden bloom is not a good indicator of how the stem will look, second year bloom gives a better idea.

K71-1

We thought we'd use this last page to show you the variation between seedlings from using the same pod parent with different pollen parents. F47-1 is an iris we refer to as a 'breeder' which is basically a seedling that we have no intention of registering but will use in hybridising as it has traits from the parents that we are looking for. In this case F47-1 carries luminata and black genes, in the hopes that eventually we get a 'true' black luminata!

Song Of Silence (Johnson 20)

K78-:(F47-1 X Volcanic Glow) You'll notice that these seedlings have a double dose of Volcanic Glow. It can clearly be seen in K78-1 but not so much in K78-2, but this one does look a lot like F47-1. Mel did cross K78-2 back to a luminata, we look forward to what comes out in the next generation, hopefully some dark luminatas! K78-1 was used heavily in hybridising last season, just look at the stem! We couldn't help ourselves! We mainly crossed K78-1 back to the K74 series of seedlings which gives those seedlings a double dose of F47-1. Doubling up the traits that we are looking for! And a triple dose of Volcanic Glow!

K74-:(F47-1 X Dark Universe) Probably the most anticipated cross out of F47-1, purely because of Dark Universe (the darkest luminata to date). We were not disappointed with the outcome, our top picks were K74-2 and K74-4! We were a little concerned that the form would be sub par but for the most part the seedlings had really nice form, especially K74-3.

K75-1:(F47-1 X Marry The Night) An unexpected result out of this cross, not only in colour but the pattern. The fall ground colour fades in the sun to reveal the plicata stitching underneath, not to be confused with broken ground colour! Definitely one we'll be keeping an eye on in the coming years.

K76-1:(F47-1 X Secret Recipe) Another unexpected, yet reasonable result from this cross. K76-1 is very reminiscent of F47-1. Thus far this cross hasn't yielded any luminata's or plicata's but there are still quite a few left to bloom. This one will probably only be used as a breeder for it's nice stems and wonderful flower form!

K77-1:(F47-1 X Song Of Silence) You can definitely see the influence of Song Of Silence in K77-1, similar colour and both are luminata-plicatas. We aren't expecting any luminata's from this cross as there is simply not enough dosages of the gene in the parents for it to express in the offspring. It only gets one dosage of luminata from each parent but for the offspring to be luminata, they need at least three dosages of the luminata gene.

Minimum Order

A minimum order of $50.00 excluding postage and handling is required.

Here is an example of an iris that has been sprayed with a glyphosate based herbicide. Notice the flower is deformed and the colour is washed out. These are typical symptoms. Not to worry though, the plant will recover in 1-2 years.

Cultivation Basics

Bearded Iris are one of the easiest perennials to grow. Requiring little to no care after they have been established. Below is a basic guide on the cultivation of Iris along with a few frequently asked questions. Cultivation notes are also included with every order.

When to Plant

For best results and to ensure that they bloom the first year, it is best to plant your Iris immediately after bloom in late November or early December. This gives them the maximum amount of time to root in and grow before they are ready to bloom.

Where to Plant

Bearded Iris must be planted in preferable full sun but afternoon sun should be sufficient. If planted in shade they will not bloom. Depending on what effect is desired, Iris should be planted at least 30cm apart. Planting them closer together will form a beautiful display first year but will need to be thinned sooner than if they were planted further apart.

Soil Preparation

Bearded Iris thrive in most well-drained garden soils. To ensure good drainage, plant on a slope or in raised beds. If your soil is heavy, gypsum can be added to improve drainage. The ideal pH for Iris is slightly acidic (6.8) but this is not a requirement. Iris will thrive in pH ranging from 5.5 to 8.5.

Depth to Plant

A common misconception in Australia is that Iris need to be planted so that the top of the rhizome is above the ground and exposed to the sun. Do not do this, Australian summers are far too hot for the Iris to handle and they will get sunburnt. Plant below the soil surface with about 1-2cm of soil covering the top of the rhizome.

Watering

Newly planted Iris will need to be watered once a day until the middle leaf in the fan starts to push up; this usually takes about two weeks. After this stage they can be watered once a week. Depending on where you live and what rainfall you get you can usually stop watering by Autumn. Here, we don't do any watering after April unless we need to.

Fertilizing

After replanting, fertilize with a 3 or 9 month slow release fertilizer. A good dose of liquid fertilizer about a month before flowering will help with quality and quantity of bloom. Fertilizing after bloom can also be beneficial to help the plants regain some nutrients.

Thinning/Transplanting

Bearded Iris can be divided and transplanted at any time during the year in Australia. However, the later they are planted the more likely they will not bloom that following Spring. Iris need to be thinned at least every 3 or 4 years otherwise they will become overcrowded. If you are unable to dig up the whole clump, a cheats way is to dig out the old rhizomes and leave the new growth in the ground without disturbing the root systems.

General Care

Keep your Iris beds free of weeds and debris. Bloom stems should be cut close to the ground shortly after blooming. Healthy leaves should be left undisturbed, but diseased or brown leaves should be removed.

Gift Vouchers

For that hard to buy for friend or relative. Gift vouchers are available starting at $50.00.

Guarantee

All plants are freshly dug and true to name. If there are any problems, notify us within 10 days and we will replace any plants you are not happy with. We will not take responsibility for plants lost due to negligence.

Arilbred/Arilmed Iris

Aril iris require a bit different care to regular Bearded Iris. For the most part it is the same, they still require full sun and good drainage. But, they do not need as much water over Summer as Bearded Iris do. Aril Iris will go dormant from November until March and will re-awaken with the early Autumn rain. There is no need to be concerned if your Aril Iris lose all there foliage over summer because it will return in Autumn.

Hybridizing Basics

Iris are one of the easiest plants to Hybridize. Simply pull off the stamens that you would like to use for pollen and brush them against the stigmatic lip which is located underneath the style crests. Use a swing tag to label the cross you have made so you can keep track of what parents you used. Once the pod has formed wait for it to turn brown and start to crack at the top. Break the pod open and store the seed in a cool dry place. Plant the seed out into pots late Autumn to early Winter and ensure the soil does not dry out. The seed will start to germinate after 6-8 weeks. Plant the seedlings out into the garden in late November and wait for them to bloom the following spring!

FAQ

Why won't my Bearded Iris flower? There are a number of factors that can cause your Iris to stop blooming. Planting in too much shade, Iris should have at least half a days sun. Overfeeding with animal manure or blood and bone, also the opposite, not feeding them at all. Planting too deep, Iris should not be planted more than 2-3cm below the soils surface. Planting too high, the rhizomes have been exposed to too much sun. Mulching of any kind. This acts as shade and also keeps the moisture around the rhizomes which can cause them to rot. Over/under watering. And if they are overcrowded, Iris need to be thinned/transplanted every 3 years otherwise the clump gets too overgrown and the plants can't access nutrients and water readily.

Why have my Iris changed colour or have gone all purple/white?

There is no possible way that an Iris can change colour unless it has sported (a mutation that rarely ever happens). Usually what happens is that two varieties are being grown to close together and they have grown into one-another. This causes the more prolific and dominant variety to suffocate the other variety which stops it from blooming. Using weedkillers like Roundup can cause flowers to turn white but it also changes the flower shape itself, you can usually tell when weedkiller is the culprit. There is also a possibility that Iris seeds have germinated from bee pods.

How long can Iris stay out of the ground? Ideally they should be planted immediately after lifting. However, if this isn't possible they can be left in a cool dry place for months. Ensure that they are kept DRY though otherwise they will rot.

A photograph of several purple iris flowers. The central flower is in full bloom, showing a deep purple color with prominent white veins on the lower petals. Above it, another flower is partially open. To the right, a third flower is in bloom. Below the central flower, there are two more flowers, one in bloom and one as a bud. The background is a soft-focus green, suggesting a garden setting. The text "She Talks To Angels" is written in a cursive font on the left side of the image.
